Stewardship – September 2nd - “Did not God choose those who are poor in the world to be rich in faith and heirs of the kingdom that he promised to those who love him?” (JAMES 2:5)
 What is more important – being rich in faith or rich in possessions? Society teaches us that possessions are most important. God teaches a different lesson. When we are rich in faith we know that material things really do not matter and we are more willing to share what we have.

From the Pastor’s Desk

So often we want to share the joy of our faith with others but we don’t know how. This week I read an article called “4 Ways to Evangelize at Work Without Being Churchy” by Ryan Eggenberger. Here are the four ways to share our faith that he recommends:

- 1. Be The Most Joyful, Peaceful Person In the Workplace: People are attracted to others who are joyful. The good news is that you can be the most joyful person in the workplace without being annoying. Smile more. Be positive. Put on the mind of Christ and see situations with the eyes of faith. This doesn’t mean you have to be naive either. Bad things happen, like suffering. But for those who see with the eyes of faith and know the Church’s teaching, we know that suffering can be used for God’s greater glory. Print out the Psalm “The joy of the Lord is my strength” and put it next to your computer at work to remind you often of how you are to be disposed internally. Before long, people will take notice and ask you why you are so joyful.
- 2. Bend Over Backwards For Others: It can become so cliché or trite sometimes, but it is still a direct command from Jesus: “A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another; even as I have loved you, that you also love one another.” [John 13.34] How many of us can say that we love our colleagues as Jesus loves us? One word that you can use to reflect on this is “unreasonable”. What Jesus did for us on the cross was beyond reason: a total crucifixion of self for the sake of the other. Not only should we do the same for our friends, we’re commanded to.
- 3. Develop Relationships That Matter: I’m going to confine this point to men for just a second, to get my point across. Many men in the culture don’t have real friends. Let me explain. Often times, a friendship between two men can be summed up as, “Great game on Sunday!” If the conversation never goes beyond Sunday’s game, you do not have a real friendship. And yet, men are hungry for friends. They are human beings with goals, desires, and struggles. They are people who are made for friendship. My point is this: be intentional about developing actual friendships, not just trivial ones. Every single human being, while unique to be sure, has the same wants, desires, and goals. Authentic relationships and friendships are two of those.
- 4. Encourage People To Strive For Greatness: It is in the human spirit to want to be great. You can see it in sports, literature, and art. We’re all striving for greatness of some sort or another. Holy Mother Church teaches us the same thing: “Do you not know that in a race all the runners compete, but only one receives the prize? So run that you may obtain it.” [1 Corinthians 9.24]By encouraging excellence, others will be attracted to you and wonder who or what is your inspiration.

Mary, Mother of the New Evangelization, pray for us.
 Fr. Beran

Norfolk Area Right to Life will be hosting a presentation by Sue Thayer on Monday, September 17th at 7:00 pm at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Norfolk. Sue Thayer worked for nearly 18 years as the center manager of the Planned Parenthood clinic in Storm Lake, Iowa. She was fired in December 2008 for raising objections to the telemed abortion procedure that was being introduced in every Planned Parenthood in Iowa. Sue has gone on to become a strong voice for life and has been instrumental in educating the public about the tragedy of abortion and specifically telemed abortion. She will be speaking about her experiences while working at Planned Parenthood, what changed her mind, and how she helped close the Storm Lake Planned Parenthood clinic. Please join us for a very informative evening.

Please join us for ecumenical prayer each Monday afternoon @ 3:00 pm - 3:30 pm, at Providence Medical Center chapel. "Wherever two or three are gathered, I am there in their midst".
